

SCHOLARSHIP IS OFFERED AT YALE

Endowment Provided by Mrs. E. Blish Thompson in Memory of Her Late Husband.

LOST LIFE ON LUSITANIA

Particulars of the Plan will be Announced in Short Time as Soon as Details are Completed.

Confirming the principal facts contained in a dispatch from New Haven, Conn., which was carried in the Metropolitan newspapers this morning, Mrs. E. Blish Thompson, North Walnut street, today stated that arrangements had been made for a scholarship in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, in memory of her husband, E. Blish Thompson, who lost his life on the Lusitania, which was torpedoed and sunk off the Irish coast last summer.

The dispatch pertaining to the endowment is as follows:

"The other endowment is in memory of E. Blish Thompson of Seymour, Ind., of the class of 1904, who was lost when the steamer sunk. A scholarship of $600 annually in the Sheffield Scientific School is to be awarded to graduates of the Shields High School, Seymour, Ind., from which institution, Mr. Thompson was graduated. The fund is established by his widow."

It was stated that Mrs. Thompson had not intended that publicity be given the scholarship until formal announcement with the requirements be made in the local high schools, the pupils of which will be benefited by the gift. The details have not been completely decided upon, but it is expected that a complete report will be made in the local school in the near future, probably before the Thanksgiving holidays.

A brief announcement of the scholarship was made this afternoon in the high school by Superintendent Mott. He stated that the details will be announced soon.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Thompson decided to arrange for the scholarship and since that time the proper papers have been in course of preparation and it was intended that no announcement would be made of the plan until the plan had been completely worked out. Suggestions have been given by the authorities at Yale and also friends of the late Mr. Thompson who were in the college at the same time he was a student there.

It was stated that the meager details given in the dispatches today are not entirely correct but it was desired that no other explanation be made until the plan is completed. It was given out, however, that the scholarship provided for a three-year course in the scientific department of the university and that the students of the Shields High School have preference in winning this scholarship.

The scholarship was the principal subject of conversation among the high school pupils today and many inquiries were made of the faculty of the plan and requirements. The students are anxiously awaiting for the detailed report which will be read and explained to them when one or two details are completed.

There are but few scholarships of this kind available to Indiana high schools at this time. A scholarship of $300 is offered by a Connersville citizen to Earlham College at Richmond and has resulted in much competition among the students in the Connersville high school.

Superintendent Mott today stated that representatives of Yale will probably be present at the high school when the detailed announcement of the plan will be made.

NO DATE HAS BEEN FIXED FOR SECOND CONFERENCE

City Officials Expect to Take Up Electric Light Case With Company in a Short Time.

Nothing further has been done towards arranging for a conference between the city officials and the representatives of the Inter-state Public Service Company for the purpose of discussing the rates for electric service. The conference was proposed by the Indiana Commission and in a letter to Mayor Ross Saturday it was stated that the Commission was ready any time to hear arguments.

The city officials will in a short time decide upon a date for the conference. Mayor Ross has been out of the city this week but is expected to return Thursday and the matter will then be taken up with the Commission. The councilmen have been studying the report which was filed by the accountants with the commission relative to the operating expenses and income of the local company.

LINEMAN KNOCKED DOWN TWO TIMES BY CURRENT

Guy Harris, Employee of Interstate Public Service Company, Escapes Injury.

While making repairs on electric light wires on Fourth street, Guy Harris, a lineman in the employ of the Interstate Public Service Company, was knocked down twice Thursday afternoon when he came in contact with an unprotected end of a "live" wire. He was not hurt and continued his work as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

Harris was working with several wires and one of them was at his feet. He failed to notice the position of the wire and stepped on it. Quick as a flash he was knocked to the ground by the current. He arose and just after he got on his feet the wire struck him again and he was sent to the ground the second time. Again he arose smiling and continued with his work as if nothing had happened, but was careful to keep an eye on the wire the rest of the day.

MINISTERS AGREE ON UNION SERVICE

Important Session of Sunday School Conference will be Held Sunday Night.

COMMITTEES ARRANGE PLANS

Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, and George N. Burnie, of Indianapolis, to Speak.

At a meeting of the city ministers practically all of the churches in the city agreed to dismiss their evening services next Sunday to join in the Sunday School conference, which will be held in this city, beginning Friday evening and closing Sunday night, under the auspices of the Indiana Sunday School Association.

The speakers for Sunday evening will be Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, a woman of international reputation as a Sunday School worker and speaker, and Mr. George N. Burnie, of Indianapolis, state secretary, who is a speaker of unusual ability.

The various committees having charge of different departments of the work connected with the conference met Monday evening and laid out plans. The registration committee met at the City Library building, the music committee in the Progressive Music Store and the decoration committee in the Republican office. The committees are taking hold of their work with a great deal of interest. A splendid program has been arranged for the conference. There will be a number of out-of-town delegates from all parts of southern Indiana.

The banquet will be served by the ladies of the M. E. church in the Scierra building on South Chestnut street Friday evening. The sessions on Saturday and Sunday will be held at the First Baptist church and the St. Paul's church. Saturday evening and Sunday evening the meetings will be held in the Baptist church.

It is desired that a large number of Seymour Sunday School people register as delegates, since there is no limit placed on the number from this city and county. The registration fee including the banquet is fifty cents. Registration may be made with any member of the registration committee or may be left at the Republican office if more convenient. Registrations should be in by Wednesday evening, so that the ladies may know how many are expecting to attend the banquet. The menu and program for the banquet will be well worth the registration fee, besides the benefit which will come from the splendid program which has been arranged.

All the Boy Scouts and the boys from the various Sunday Schools who will serve on the reception committee are requested to meet at the public library Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to arrange for meeting and assisting the delegates to the homes.

CORN SHOW PLANS ARE TAKING FORM

Committees Report Progress Being Made on Jackson County's First Corn Exhibit.

SPLENDID FINANCIAL REPORT

Decorating Committee Plans to Convert Buhner Garage Into Beautiful Exhibition Building.

The various committees which are at work on the first Jackson County Corn Show next Monday afternoon at the Farmers' Club and reported the progress which has been made. H. C. Johnson, chairman of the committee on arrangements for cash prizes and trophies, reported that the trophies had been arranged for, and that enough money was assured to cover the cost of the prizes which had been decided upon. L. L. Bollinger, chairman of the committee on general arrangements, reported that his committee had secured the necessary amount of money to finance the show, had secured the Buhner garage for the event, and, through the assistance of the Merchants' Association, had secured the Majestic theater for Prof. Christie's address on the night of December 3. He also reported that the Seymour band had been secured for daily concerts during the show, and that probably other forms of entertainment would be booked for the out-of-town visitors.

W. L. Johnson, of the advertising and decorating committee, reported that the committee was already working on the decorating plans, and the advertising will be pushed from now on, in an endeavor to get the show before every resident of Jackson county. The premium lists will be printed at once and distributed throughout the county, advertising posters will be put out, and various other forms of publicity used. According to the plans of the committee, the Buhner garage, where the show will be held, will be transformed into a regular exposition palace. A large ornamental electric lighted arch will probably be erected over the entrance, and the interior will be decorated with corn, electric lights, colors, etc. The show room will present a most attractive appearance at night, and it is expected will attract hundreds of town people to the exhibit.

County Agent Cobb announced that he had appointed the following men as local leaders and boosters in the various townships:

Brownstown—Joe Robertson, Carr—Alex Carr. Driftwood—Henry Hackman. Grassy Fork—August Mitschke. Hamilton—Holmes Robertson. Jackson—G. C. Boreherding. Owen—Horace Payne. Redding—Benj. Shannon. Salt Creek—Dolph Bowers. Washington—Harrison Love. Vernon—David A. Lewis.

These men will be supplied with advertising material and premium lists, and will also receive entries for the show from their respective townships. Persons desiring in-

PERSIAN RULER FLEES WITH HIS MINISTER

Fears Bloodshed Because of Plotting and Counter Plotting Between Enemies.

By United Press.

Petrograd, November 16.—Fearful that plotting and counter-plotting by the German and entente allies' representatives will end in bloodshed in Teheran, the Shah has left the Persian capital with his minister. A Teheran dispatch received to-day says the Persian ruler's departure virtually amounting to a flight occurred Monday.

Cossacks are in control in Teheran. The entente powers' representatives there have been accused of German and Turkish agents for some time of corrupting the Persian government in their own interest. To stop this the Russians have sent troops there.

DR. KELLER TO TAKE FIGHT TO CONVENTION

President of Woman's Franchise League Speaks at Second District Meeting.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, November 16.—Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, left to-day for Sullivan to attend the convention of the second district. It was believed she would go before the convention and seek an endorsement of the action of the state board of the suffrage body which, at a partial meeting, voted to ask Mrs. S. C. Stimson, of Terre Haute, to resign because of methods Mrs. Stimson is said to have used to obtain the election of Mrs. Clark Fairbanks, of Ft. Wayne, to the presidency of the Federation of Women's Club, over Mrs. L. J. Cox, of Terre Haute.

BURKITT REINSTATED BY PRESIDENT'S ORDER

Assistant Postmaster at Winnetka, Ill., Given Position at Request of Chief Executive.

By United Press.

Washington, November 16.—George Burkitt was ordered immediately reinstated in the postoffice at Winnetka, Ill., by a telegram sent by assistant Postmaster, General Roper to-day to Postmaster Kloepper.

The telegram read: "Reinstate Burkitt immediately. Am sending written communication dealing fully with matter."

It is understood this action was taken on receipt of an order from President Wilson to the postoffice department.

BRYAN WILL NOT FIGHT WILSON'S RENOMINATION

Says He Thinks President Has Been Misled in Defense Program by the Newspapers.

By United Press.

Toledo, O., November 16.—William J. Bryan has no intention of fighting the renomination of President Wilson, according to a letter to I. R. Sherwood today. Bryan wrote that there is nothing personal in his fight on the president's army and navy program. The letter expresses belief that the president has been misled by newspapers.

ARGUMENTS GIVEN FOR PROHIBITION

Temperance People From all Parts of Indiana Attend Great State Convention.

WILL ORGANIZE DRY FORCES

Anti-Saloon League of Indiana Back of Meeting—Plan For Combining Primaries.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., November 16.—Indiana saw the beginning today of what probably will be the greatest anti-liquor crusade ever attempted in the state. Thousands of anti-saloon advocates came here to attend the convention of those favoring the state-wide prohibition law. The prime purpose of today's convention is to organize the dry forces in time so that an effective fight can be made before the primaries. The effort will be to control the next General Assembly. The call for this convention was sent out by the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana. The call was signed by hundreds of citizens of many localities. Men of all parties signed it. In the list are manufacturers, professional men, business men, farmers, educators and church workers.

Among the speakers who will address the convention during its two day session are: E. O. Excell, Chicago; Judge Wm. R. Eichhorn, Bluffton; F. C. Ball, Muncie; Mrs. Stella Stimson, Terre Haute; W. B. Wheeler, Columbus, Ohio; Former Governor Frank Hanly, Indianapolis; E. C. Dinwiddie, Washington, D. C.; Sam Small, Georgia, and Frederick Landis, Logansport.

Probably as much interest will attach to the address tomorrow of Mrs. Stimson as to any other one speaker. Mrs. Stimson is in the midst of as bitter a fight as ever to force the women of Indiana. She led the successful attack on Mrs. L. J. Cox, of Terre Haute, who was candidate for the presidency of the Federation of Women's clubs. Since then the Board of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, which was nearly solid behind Mrs. Cox, has voted to ask Mrs. Stimson to resign. The appearance of Mrs. Stimson before the temperance body will be significant because she and her friends claim that her fight has been made against the friends of liquor. Her subject will be "Why Mothers Want Prohibition."

R. C. Minton, state attorney for the Anti-Saloon League, addressing the convention this afternoon, made sensational charges of lawlessness against arose engaged in the manufacturing and handling of liquor. Minton attacked the breweries. He said they "owned and controlled absolutely" 80 per cent. of the saloons in Indianapolis.

The Indiana Law Enforcement League, launched recently by the brewers with the secretary of the brewers association its secretary, was ridiculed by Minton, who asserted that detectives brought here from Chicago for an elaborate investigation were only aiding the brewers to "determine beyond all reasonable Lincoln stopped at Indianapolis February 11, 1861, on his way to Washington to assume the presidency. A rousing reception was given him. Governor Morton delivered an address. As the new president had not yet declared his policy toward the South, Morton addressed his remarks in such a way to lead Lincoln out if possible. The latter while making no definite statement said, "I will only say that to the salvation of this Union there needs be but one single thing, the hearts of a people like yours. Of the people when they rise in mass in behalf of the Union and the liberties of this country truly may it be said, 'the gates of hell cannot prevail against them.'"

CORN SHOW WILL BE GIVEN BY THE CORTLAND SCHOOL

Exhibits and Demonstrations Planned by Agricultural and Domestic Science Classes.

The Cortland school will observe Corn Produce Day Friday afternoon, November 19. A short program will be given by the pupils and the agricultural class will give a corn show. Prizes will be given for the best tenear exhibits. The domestic science class will give demonstration exercises and will also hold an exhibit.

County Superintendent J. E. Payne and County Agent A. D. Cobb will be present to take part in the program. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. It is expected that as many of the patrons will be present as can arrange to do so.

The exhibits and demonstrations are planned in order to encourage the pupils in their work and to afford the patrons an opportunity to see what the school is doing in this work.

BELIEVE INSURANCE RATES ARE TOO HIGH

Kokomo Officials Will Attempt to Convince State Bureau That There is Discrimination.

By United Press.

Kokomo, Ind., November 16.—School officials here are much wrought up over what they think are extortionate rates being charged for insurance on the new high school building. An effort will be made to convince the state fire insurance rating bureau that Kokomo is being made to suffer unfair discrimination. The rate is said to be higher than any being charged in the state on any like structure and that the rate is fully twice as high as the character of the risk warrants, officials charge.

Local insurance agents admit that the rate of $1.06 per hundred is very high and are going to assist the board in having it lowered if possible.

How to Prevent Croup.

It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Johns, Elida, Ohio, relates her experience as follows: "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that croupy cough I would give him one or two doses of it and it would break the attack. I like it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly, and it is safe and reliable." Obtainable everywhere.

Bees and Ants.

Bees will place their honeycombs in any place regularly or irregularly shaped, and when they come to corners and angles they seem to stop and consider. Then they vary the shape of the cell, so that the space is exactly filled. It could not be done more satisfactorily if the whole thing had been worked out on paper beforehand. Ants make hard and smooth roads and drive tunnels compared to which man's efforts in making such things are insignificant.

Distress in the Stomach.

There are many people who have a distress in the stomach after meals. It is due to indigestion and easily remedied by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets after meals. Mrs. Henry Padghan, Victor, N. Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." Obtainable everywhere.

DEMOCRATS HAVE MAJORITY

Roll Call of New House Is Now Made Public.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Official figures made public by South Trible, clerk of the house, show that in the new house the Democrats will have a majority of thirty-four over the Republicans and twenty-five over all parties represented in that body. The roll call of the new house will be based on the compilation just made public. It includes members elected to vacancies at this month's election. The political situation follows:

Democrats, 230; Republicans, 196; Progressives, 7; one Independent and one Socialist. Total membership, 435. The member classified as "Independent" is Representative William Kent of California, who was originally elected as a Progressive. The Socialist is Meyer London of New York.

PRIMARY LAW.

Section 10 of the Indiana primary law ought either to be stricken out or an interpretation placed upon it by the courts that will give every voter the privilege that is granted him under the constitution. There should be no doubt as to the meaning of the clause. In order to ascertain the meaning of this section an Indianapolis voter has asked the courts to construe it. Section ten prevents any man from voting at any party primary who could not show by affidavit that he had previously voted for a majority of the candidates on that ticket.

Two constructions have been placed upon the section in question. One is that a voter can be challenged at the polls in any primary by a member of any other party and unless he can produce an affidavit as required he will not be permitted to participate in such a primary. The other construction is that the challenge can only be made by a member of the party holding the primary. If the latter is held to be the meaning the section the right of challenge would be placed in the hands of the party conducting the primary. If the first construction is placed upon it the section is vicious and should be stricken out.

The constitution gives every man of legal age the right to vote and the law should protect that right rather than hamper it. It is well that the section in question be thrashed out in the courts before the primaries are held. All parties want to know their rights and it is wise that the disputed points be settled in ample time.

FAY REFUSES TO CONFESS

QUARRY WORK WILL BE DONE DURING WINTER

Actual Work on New Postoffice Building Will be Started in Spring It is Believed.

The announcement in the Republican Monday afternoon that the contract for the new postoffice building which is to be constructed in this city had been awarded by the treasury department at Washington was read with intense interest. The public had been waiting since October 30 for the news as it assures the completion of the building which will mean so much to Seymour. The contract as stated in the dispatch was awarded to Callahan-Mandel Company, of Chicago, that company having filed the lowest bid. The building will cost approximately $50,000 and will be built of Bedford limestone.

Postmaster Swope stated this afternoon that he had heard nothing more concerning the new building. The work on the structure from this time will be in charge of the supervising architect and the successful contractors. The government will have inspectors on the work and reports will be made from time to time to the treasury department relative to the progress made on the contract.

It is believed that the stone for the new building will be cut out this winter so that the material will be on hand early in the spring when the work will begin. There is little to be done on the site in the way of preliminary work, it is pointed out, until the material arrives. There will be little excavation to do and it is believed that part of the lot will have to be filled in to comply with the specifications.

The construction of the building will furnish employment for quite a number of mechanics and laborers and many of them will be Seymour people. The contractors will have their own foremen and workmen but besides these others in this city will be employed.

FORMER GREENSBURG MAN
HELD IN SULLIVAN JAIL

Dr. C. W. Pagel Charged with Being Ring Leader of Gang of Automobile Thieves.

By United Press.
 Sullivan, Ind., November 16.—Dr. Charles W. Pagel, who was arrested in Chicago in his private garage and who was held at the county jail here today, was the ringleader of a gang of organized auto thieves, according to a statement made today by Chief of Police Rich.

Pagel was arrested while cutting the number from a machine which was identified as having been stolen from William Hampke of Carlisle.

Pagel has served a term in the Indiana state prison from Greensburg, Ind., for forgery.

Efforts are being made to connect him with operations in Lake and Vigo counties.

MARSH FUNERAL WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. Mr. Scott, of Holton, will Have Charge of Services—Burial at Reddington Cemetery.

The funeral of the late James Marsh, who died Monday at the Schneck Memorial Hospital after an illness with uraemic poisoning, will be held from the Reddington Christian church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Scott, of Holton. Burial will take place at the Reddington cemetery.

Mr. Marsh was for many years a member of the Reddington church and was one of the leading members of the congregation. He took an active part in the religious movements of the county and was president of the County Sunday School Association for a number of years. He was also chairman of the Jackson County Farmers' Institute for several years and held that office at the time of his death. Because of his long residence in the county a large attendance at the funeral is expected.

Effective Test.

"Another comedian and myself," said Eddie Foy, "were looking at some sausages on the table for luncheon. My friend insisted they were pure pork, while I plunged for the equine theory. My friend was obdurate, so I bet him a new hat I was right and said I would prove it. Thereupon I cut one of the mysteries into five pieces and went out. In ten minutes I returned.

"There," said I, "What did I tell you? They are horse. I put the five pieces on a cab line outside. Then I took the first piece away, and the other four promptly moved up."—Every Week.

Marriage Problems.

"Good morning, parson," said Jenks, the village wag, meeting the parish rector one morning. "I want your advice on a certain point concerning the marriage laws."

"I shall be very pleased to assist you if I can, Mr. Jenks. What is it you require solving?"

"Well, I want to know whether it's legal for a man to marry his widow's niece?"

The vicar hesitated before vouchsafing a reply, then very slowly expressed it as his opinion that such a marriage would be perfectly legal.

"That's satisfactory, sir, but would it be possible for such a marriage to actually take place?" continued Jenks, with a merry twinkle in his eye.

"Certainly. If the thing is legalized by law it is, of course, possible," replied the clergyman.

"You're positive on that point, I presume?"

"Of course I am!"

"Well, I can't say that I share your opinion. As a rule, in this country widows are widows, and if a man wished to marry the niece of such a person I'm afraid he'd have to rise from the grave first. Good morning, parson!"—London Mail.

The Deacon Hit Back.

"The best of things are open to abuse," said a clergyman, "even prayer meetings. William Spargus rose in prayer meeting one night and said he desired to tell the dear friends present of the great change of heart that had come over him, so that he now forgave, fully and freely, Deacon Jones for the horse he had sold him."

"Deacon Jones was too shocked at first to reply. He soon recovered himself, however, and he rose in his pew and said:

"I am indeed glad, dear Christian friends, to have gained Brother William Spargus' forgiveness; but, all the same, he ain't paid for the boss yet."

GIRLS IN BAD HEALTH

Hundreds of girls go to work day after day, afflicted with some ailment peculiar to their sex, dragging one foot wearily after the other, working always with one eye on the clock and wishing for closing time to come. Every such girl should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her to a normal healthy condition, then work will be a pleasure. For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been preeminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Why don't you try it?

DON'T FORGET CHRISTMAS
RUSH AT THE POSTOFFICE

Parcel Post Business Unusually Heavy at That Time Requiring Early Mailing.

It is six weeks until Christmas, but it is not too early to begin thinking about those gifts that must be sent by mail to distant points. During the holiday season the post office force is rushed and the best way to insure prompt delivery is to mail the packages in plenty of time. Post-office authorities have reminded the public that because of the European war mail is often delayed in transit in the warring countries and that ample time should be given for these delays.

The following suggestions have been made:

The co-operation of the public with the postal service in handling the Christmas mail is urged and the following directions emphasized:

Prepay postage fully on all parcels; address parcels fully and plainly; place name and address of sender on all matter; pack articles carefully and wrap and tie them securely, but do not seal them, as sealed packages are subject to postage at the letter rate; mail parcels early—they may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," which injunction is invariably respected by recipients; valuable articles should always be insured.

A parcel may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to its actual value, according to the postal regulations, but not to exceed $5 in any one case on payment of a fee of 3 cents; not to exceed $25, 5 cents; not to exceed $50, 10 cents, and not to exceed $100, 25 cents. These fees are in addition to the postage, both to be prepaid by stamps affixed to the parcels. Patrons may secure insurance tags at the parcel post window in advance, which will enable them to prepare parcels at home for mailing.

A Definition.

Debate—An argument or word battle of a formal nature, engaged in by two or more people, in which each tries to convince the other that he is wrong, but only succeeds in convincing himself more firmly that he is right.—Life.

Room Dust.

Dust is everywhere, but the worst kind of dust is that which is confined within the four walls of a room. The dust is always germ laden, because it is infested with effete matter thrown off by human bodies.

"What do you do when your wife begins to cry, Jibway?"

"As my wife is a head taller than I am and she cries copiously, my first thought is to stand from under."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SEEING STRAIGHT.

I will look straight out,
See things—not try to evade them.
Fact shall be fact for me,
And the truth the truth forever.
—Clough.

The Larger Life.

Oh, may I join the choir invisible Of those immortal dead who live again In minds made better by their presence;—live In pulses stirred to generosity, In deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn For miserable aims that end with self, In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars, And with their mild persistence urge man's search To vaster issues.
—George Eliot.

His Heavy Voice.

Some time ago the guests at a reception were discussing the relative merits of several songsters, when one of the party turned to a man named Brown.

"By the way, Brown," said he, "you are something of a singer, are you not?"

"Not on your life!" was the emphatic response of Brown. "I never sang a note that somebody didn't threaten to send in a riot call. You are probably thinking of my brother."

"Perhaps I am," was the thoughtful rejoinder of the other. "Has he a heavy bass voice?"

"Yes," smiled Brown, "so derved heavy that it makes him bowlegged to carry it."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Courage.

Physical courage, which despises all danger, will make a man brave in one way, and moral courage, which defies all opinion, will make a man brave in another.—Bolton.

—They said she would not find the little suit outside of a big city, but she found it down at the big store in your own city.

The other day a lady had been tipped off by a friend in the city what the new thing was in the way of a little boys suit so she sat out in search of correct apparel for the little man.

At different stores she was told they did not have them, some said they were not correct, etc., until finally the lady began to think the search was in vain. Coming down to the big store that's doing things she found just the identical thing, the very suit she had been inquiring for.

Now we've had a lot of such instances; in fact, the original shipment went right out, and they are going after the second.

So they must look pretty good.

DIPLOMAT IS SUSPICIONED

German Bomb Plotter In Statement to United States Officials Is Believed to Have Involved Alien Envoy.

New York, Nov. 16.—Robert Fay, lieutenant in the German army and self-confessed head of a gang of bomb makers that sought to dabble, and if possible, destroy munition-laden ships sailing from New York to the entente allies, told the story of his life to Assistant United States District Attorney Knox following his interview with Chief of Secret Service Flynn.

Fay talked freely, fully and of his own volition for five hours without interruption. What he said was not made public, but at the conclusion of the session, Mr. Knox announced that all Fay wished to do now was to plead guilty and start at once to serve his sentence.

"There is no doubt," Mr. Marshall said, "that his name is really Fay and that he served in the German army. As to the rest, we do not know. His statement differs somewhat from his previous story, but admits his guilt of the charges against him."

What Fay told Mr. Knox leads back to a source to which already has been traced another case under investigation by the government, according to Roger B. Wood, an assistant in Mr. Marshall's office.

"Five cases of this sort lead back to four sources," Mr. Wood said.

"The four sources, however, directing these five cases, are very close together—very. It is my belief that these four men all reported to and took their orders from a fifth man, who was the director of all the trouble of this sort in the United States."

"If you could prove this," Mr. Wood was asked, "would you or could you prosecute this fifth man?"

"All I can say to that," he replied, "is that under the law we can not prosecute any diplomatic representative of a foreign country."

Fay's long talk with Mr. Knox was made upon his own solicitation and without promise of immunity or leniency. The statement which the prisoner dictated carried him back to Germany, covered the high lights of his service in the German army, told in detail of his alleged mission to America and recited his movements and activities here.

Cigar Stub Started Fire.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 16.—When Dr. O. W. Grossnickle, who was alone at his home reading a newspaper, was hurriedly called to see a patient, he tossed the newspaper on the library table. When he returned he found the fire department fighting flames. The damage was $600. The doctor had thrown the newspaper over a forgotten cigar stub.

London, Nov. 16.—The main Serbian army is suffering terrific and disastrous losses in its effort to hold back Teuton and Bulgarian armies closing in on it in the mountainous district west of Nish.

A statement issued in Berlin reports the capture of nearly nine thousand Serbs, the Bulgarian reports saying the forces under General Bojadieff are capturing Serbian soldiers at the rate of one thousand a day.

From Athens comes the report that the allies have decided to send an immense force to the Balkans and, in view of this, Greece will be asked to substitute active co-operation for her present policy of benevolent neutrality.

The Daily Mail's Athens correspondent says:

"The French on the Valandovo front followed up their successful attacks after they had taken important positions near hill 616, and captured Kosturino, five miles south of Strumnitza."

"In an attack on the French on the Grena river the Bulgarians lost a large number of men in killed and wounded."

"Three Bulgarian divisions, the second, third and seventh, totalling 50,000, are operating in the Robouska section with the object of preventing the recapture of Kuprili."

The Daily Mail correspondent at Salonica says in a dispatch:

"On the left bank of the Grena, south of Kuprili, the Bulgarians, having received reinforcements, again attacked. Fighting was still going on at Grena. Since then no further information has been received here."

Turkish plans for a new drive at the Suez canal, preparatory to an invasion of Egypt, are reported in dispatches from Rome, which add that it is believed in Constantinople that the kaiser intends to be in the Ottoman capital to witness the start of this expedition.

With the fate of Serbia in the balance new hope was found in the activities of Italy. This nation now has entered the Balkan campaign in earnest, according to a Salonica dispatch, which declares that the Italian cruiser Plemonte has arrived at that port after successfully bombarding the Bulgarian port of Dedeagatch. The warship threw shells on the railroad station and a large number of cars loaded with munitions of war were destroyed.

London editorial comment regarding the visit of Lord Kitchener to the near east indicates that one of his chief objects is to induce King Constantine to throw in his lot immediately with the allies.

In the labyrinth section in Artois, France, the Germans, by a sudden attack, gained a foothold in one of the French first-line trenches, but were driven out, leaving their wounded behind. Otherwise there has been only artillery action on the western line.

In the only fighting reported from northwestern Russia, in the region of Riga, the Germans were repulsed by the artillery fire of the Russians. This engagement took place in the Ikksul district.

MEN INDICTED GIVE BOND

Arrested For Presenting Fraudulent
Claims to Former School Trustee.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 16.—George M. Ray, D. B. Hill and John W. Palmer of Indianapolis, and O. J. Steffey of Carlisle, school supply men, indicted for presenting fraudulent claims to Thomas Ferguson, former trustee of Lost Creek township, surrendered themselves to Sheriff Kreitenstein and gave bond for their appearance in the circuit court to answer to charges against them. Ray gave a surety bond, but the others gave personal bonds.

Ferguson, who is county auditor-elect, and James R. Finkelstein, who were also indicted, announce that when the criminal docket is called on Nov. 22 they will insist that their cases be set for immediate trial.

Were Overcome by Coal Gas.

Frankfort, Ind., Nov. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. William Karb and daughter were found in an unconscious condition by an employee when he went to call them for breakfast, all having been overcome by gas fumes from a coal stove. Physicians revived Mr. Karb after several hours' work, but the wife and daughter remain in a critical condition.

Find Human Skull in Barrel.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 16.—William L. Sheppard, when hunting rabbits in a swamp, six miles south of here, found a human skull, believed to have been that of a man, in a barrel, partly buried in the mud. Mr. Sheppard said the barrel contained other bones and the local authorities are investigating.

Belief Submarine Discussion
Will Be Repeated.

ITALIANS BOMBARD PORT

Throw Shells Into Bulgarian Port of Dedeagatch, Doing Big Damage—
Turks Plan New Drive on Suez
Canal to Invade Egypt.

Washington, Nov. 16.—While in view of the contradictory information the officials of the government decline to comment on the Ancona affair, the general belief is that the entire question of submarine warfare and the obligations of a submarine commander to see that neutrals are in a place of safety will be taken up with the Austrian government by the United States and this in the near future.

Washington never has been in negotiation with Austria in regard to the submarine question, having thrashed it out alone with Germany and the agreement between this country and Berlin necessarily is not binding with regard to Vienna.

Enough evidence is at hand, it is declared, to warrant some action by this government, although it may be proven that the Ancona actually was fleeing.

Secretary Lansing personally has received from Macchi di Cellore, the Italian ambassador, a communication addressed by Italy to all neutral nations, denouncing as "an unparalleled atrocity" the sinking of the Italian liner Ancona, with scores of neutrals and other non-combatants aboard.

The statement recites the circumstances of the attack, charging that "without even a blank shot" of warning from the attacking submarine the vessel was shelled and that the killing and wounding of passengers continued after the ship had stopped. No reference is made to the nationality of the submarine.

As yet Ambassador Penfield has not been instructed to call at the Vienna foreign office for information, but he probably will be shortly in view of the issuance of a statement by the Austro-Hungarian admiralty describing the attack.

Upon receipt of the facts as stated in Vienna, the Washington government will consider whether any rights of American citizens have been violated. The admiralty statement, which has been seen by officials here in the press, is at variance with that of Italy. It declares that the Ancona attempted to escape and only after repeated shelling was brought to a stop.

RAIL MEN LEAD IN INJURED

Building Trades Also Hazardous, According to Commission's Report.

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—Railroad and building trades contributed more than their average share of accidents in which employees suffered during October, according to the monthly report of the state industrial commission.

Twenty-one persons were killed in accidents and 2,762 injured. Of this number, 310 accidents injured employees of railroad corporations and several hundred occurred in the building trades. Four deaths were caused by electrocution. The expense for medical aid in these cases amounted to $1,896.

A great number of accidents, 1,345, occurred to men between sixteen and thirty years old. Sixty-eight women employees suffered accidents. The average weekly wage of men injured ranged from $63 a week to $3 a week and averaged $13.17. The weekly wage of women ranged from $12 a week to $3 a week and averaged $3.60 a week.

PLANS FOR MILITARY CAMPS

Will Extend System of Instruction
Throughout Country.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The war department plans to extend throughout the country next year the system of business men's camps for military instruction which were held experimentally last summer. It was announced that a special board has been appointed for considering the next best means of utilizing the scheme of business men's training camps.

The board consists of Major William D. Connor, of the general staff, chairman; Captain Halstead Dorry and Captain George H. White, Captain Dorry was in command of the camp at Plattsburg.

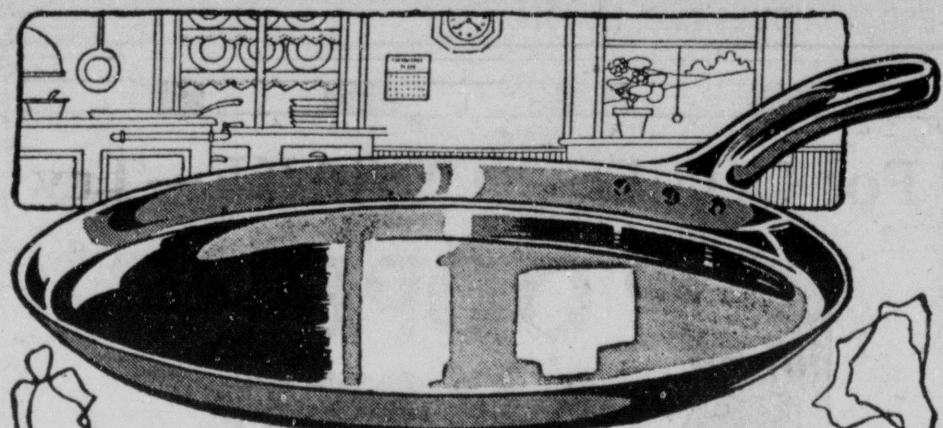

The board will meet at Governor's island, New York, and make its report to the secretary of war.

CHAPTER III. Complications.

"I WANT to talk to you," said Rodney, coming toward Mary. "I've been wanting this opportunity for days, and now that I've got it I don't propose to be interrupted. That's why I locked the door."

Rodney had come over to her.

"I want to talk to you," he said impetuously. "Mary, will you marry me?"

"Why, really," began Mary shyly.

"I don't know what to say," hesitated the girl, feeling her ground.

"Say yes," cried Rodney, waiting feverishly to hear her answer.

It came at last shyly. "Yes," whereupon Rodney cried, "You angel!" joyfully and tried to grab her. But things must not go quite so fast, Mary thought intuitively, and drew away a little from him, though, to tell the truth, she would willingly have let him catch her as she felt now.

"No, no; wait a moment," she said.

"We'll be married right away," went on Rodney unabashed.

"But suppose your father disapproves?" said Mary.

"He won't know anything about it until we're married, and then what could he do?" objected Rodney.

"He might cut you off," suggested Mary sagely.

"Would you care?" asked Rodney.

"I? No, no, indeed," said Mary hastily. "I was thinking of you, dear."

"Don't you bother about me," cried Rodney. "We'll be married tomorrow and then come home for the parental blessing."

"No, I couldn't do that," said Mary.

"It wouldn't be right. I'm his private secretary. He trusts me and brings me here to his home, and then to find I'd married his son on the sly—no, Rodney, we couldn't do that."

"You do make it sound rather bad," said Rodney. "I shouldn't want to treat father badly. We've always been pretty good friends, he and I. I guess I'd better tell him—in a week or so."

Mary's self composure had been rapidly returning during this colloquy, and she was surer of what she wanted. Indeed it piqued her a little that Rodney should have made such a proposal to her, so that now her own inclinations and the old gentleman's upstairs ran in the same channel. She spoke up quite resolutely:

"Why, Rodney, if you love me you will want to get this awful suspense over with."

"But suppose he does object?" Rodney argued, seeing his light of happiness grow dim.

"Even then I wouldn't give you up," said his sweetheart.

"Mary!"

"You could go into business," she went on, "make a big man of yourself, make me proud of you."

"You talk just like the heroine in a play I saw last night," protested Rodney. "She wanted the hero to go to work, and he did, and then for four acts everybody suffered."

"Don't you want to work?" asked Mary anxiously.

"I should say not." Rodney answered quite seriously. "Imagine going to bed every night knowing you'd got to get up in the morning and go to business."

"You'd be happier, wouldn't you," queried Mary, "if you had a job?"

"Please don't talk like father," protested Rodney. "He's preached a job at me ever since I left college. Why should I work? Father made millions out of soap and is forever complaining that he's always had his nose to the grindstone, that he's never known what fun was, that it's all made him old before his time. I can't see the sense of following an example like that—I really can't. He's got enough for you and me and our children and their grandchildren. I've explained all this to him, but I can't seem to make him understand. But it's simple—why work when there's millions in the family? And why even talk of it when you and I are in love?"

He leaned hungrily toward her, stretching out his arms to her, and finished on a note of genuine appeal: "Come, kiss me, Mary."

But Mary drew back from him quickly. "No, you mustn't," she said firmly. "Not till you've spoken to your father."

"You won't even kiss me till I tell him?"

"No."

"And you will when I do?"

"Yes."

"Then I'll tell him right away!" cried the valiant lover, striding to the door.

"Oh, Rodney, you're splendid!" applauded Mary, "and don't be afraid."

"Afraid!" echoed Rodney scornfully.

"You don't think I'd better wait till the morning?"

"No, I don't," said Mary. "And don't be silly about his gout. He really is a very patient invalid."

Rodney stood a moment with his hand on the knob, plucking up resolution. As he lingered there a violent knocking sounded on the other side, and his father's voice could be distinctly heard crying "Ouch!" in an extra loud tone in the hall.

"Speaking of the patient invalid," whispered Rodney, looking back at the girl for whom he was so greatly daring.

"If you don't ask him now I'll never marry you," whispered Mary, forming her words as distinctly as was possible under the circumstances.

"Open the door!" cried the elder Martin angrily in the hall.

"I'm coming, father. Coming," quaked Rodney as he turned the key.

The door was no sooner opened than his father strode into the room sternly, uttering the ejaculation "Ouch!" twice and the polite phrase "the devil!" at least once as he crossed the threshold.

"Why was that door locked?" he demanded, scowling.

"Was it locked?" asked Rodney innocently.

"You young fool, didn't you just unlock it?" roared his father.

"So I did," said Rodney nervously.

Mary in the meanwhile had retreated to her typewriter, and now began typifying violently.

"Well, as a matter of fact, I did want"—he began, clearing his throat.

"Oh, now we're getting to it," Martin retorted. "Well, what is it?"

"I wanted to have a talk with you—an important talk!"

"Curious! That's just what I wanted to have with you. I've wanted it all day, and now we'll have it. Miss Grayson!" he called to Mary.

"Yes, sir," said Mary meekly.

"Get out!"

She went without a glance at Rodney, who stood looking after her dejectedly, not knowing that his love's intention was to give him moral support by listening in the hall.

"Now, what do you mean by over-drawing your allowance again?" she heard Mr. Martin say when the door was closed.

"Why," innocently answered Rodney, "it simply proves that I was right when I told you my allowance was too small."

"What!" ejaculated his father, quite evidently aghast.

"And if my allowance is too small for one it's much too small for two," the boy continued ingeniously.

"For two?"

"Father, has it ever occurred to you that I might marry?" inquired Rodney.

"Of course it has. You're fool enough for anything," growled his father.

"I don't consider a man a fool because he's married," said Rodney.

"That's because you've never tried it," said Rodney.

"Oh, you do, do you? Who is the girl?"

"The girl?" repeated his son nervously.

"Yes, girl. You're not going to marry an automobile, or a polo pony, or an aeroplane, or any other of your idiotic amusements, are you? You're going to marry a girl, aren't you? Some blue eyed, doll faced, gurgling, fluttering little fool. Oh, why doesn't God give young men some sense about women?"

"I object very strongly to your speaking in that way of Miss Grayson," spoke up Rodney angrily.

"Miss Grayson? Miss Grayson—you're not going to marry a typewriter!"

"Yes, sir."

"Does she know it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Oh, of course she knows a good thing like you when she sees it!"

"I won't listen to you talk of Miss Grayson in that way!"

"You've got to listen. I won't permit any such absurd, ridiculous marriage. Thank heaven you had sense enough not to elope!"

"I wanted to, but she wouldn't. She insisted on your being told. So you see what an injustice!"

"Injustice! Can't you see she wanted me to know so that if I disapproved and cut you off she'd not be stuck with you on her hands?"

"Please, father!" pleaded Rodney and then dropped his hands at his sides and turned to go, adding, "It's quite useless."

"No, my boy; wait a minute," said Mr. Martin. "Remember I'm your friend, even if I am your father. Don't you believe it? It's only your money she wants."

"I know it isn't," replied Rodney proudly.

"I'll prove it is," said his father, pushing an enameled electric bell that stood near him on the table.

"What are you going to do?" cried Rodney nervously.

"Send for Miss Grayson," said his father grimly. "I'll tell that scheming secretary that if you persist in this marriage I'll disinherit you, and then you watch her throw you over," he amplified for Rodney's benefit.

"Even if you are my father you shan't insult the girl I love," protested Rodney hotly.

"Poppycock! You're afraid to put her to the test. You're afraid she will chuck you," retorted his father.

But Rodney answered quietly: "I'm not afraid, father. You're mistaken."

Johnson appeared meanwhile in answer to the bell and in a surprisingly short time and with a queer look on his usually imperturbable face, if they had only noticed it, returned with Mary Grayson under his escort. Mary looked from father to son with an elaborately assumed air of innocence and inquired:

"You wanted me, Mr. Martin?"

She saw Rodney out of the tail of her eye make a movement toward her and say "Mary" in a pleading tone; then heard his father interrupting him curtly. "My precious son," he told her, "has just informed me that you and he intend to get married. Is that right?"

Taxi Plunges Into River.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 16.—A taxicab, driven by Ernest Hearly went over the approach to the Main street bridge into the Fox river. Hearly and William Welch, who was riding with him, were drowned. The bridge was open to permit a boat to pass.

"I'm coming, father. Coming," quaked Rodney.

his father again, and tried to muster up his courage to the sticking point.

"You angel!"

"Stop that noise," shouted Mr. Martin.

The noise ceased immediately, and Rodney looked at her discouraged. She motioned to him to go on. Meanwhile Martin painfully limped to a chair by a small table and sank into it, his foot giving him another twinge.

"Ouch! Oh, my poor foot!" he moaned.

Rodney hastily picked up a footstool and came with it to his father.

"I'm afraid your foot hurts," he ventured propitiatingly.

"Not at all—I just pretend that it does," growled his father.

"I hoped you were better," said the son sincerely.

"Well, I'm not. What's that you got there?"

"A footstool—I thought it might make you more comfortable."

"Comfortable? How much do you want out of me now?" his father asked shrewdly.

"Why nothing, father," Rodney answered.

"Well, anyhow the answer is, not a nickel!"

"Why do you say that?" Rodney quavered.

"I know you, and whatever it is you can't have it."

"Stop that noise," shouted Mr. Martin.

The noise ceased immediately, and Rodney looked at her discouraged. She motioned to him to go on. Meanwhile Martin painfully limped to a chair by a small table and sank into it, his foot giving him another twinge.

"Ouch! Oh, my poor foot!" he moaned.

Rodney hastily picked up a footstool and came with it to his father.

"I'm afraid your foot hurts," he ventured propitiatingly.

"Not at all—I just pretend that it does," growled his father.

"I hoped you were better," said the son sincerely.

"Well, I'm not. What's that you got there?"

"A footstool—I thought it might make you more comfortable."

"Comfortable? How much do you want out of me now?" his father asked shrewdly.

"Why nothing, father," Rodney answered.

"Well, anyhow the answer is, not a nickel!"

"Why do you say that?" Rodney quavered.

"I know you, and whatever it is you can't have it."

Rodney turned appealingly to Mary, who ignored him. He turned back to his father again, and tried to muster up his courage to the sticking point.

"You angel!"

"Stop that noise," shouted Mr. Martin.

Real Worth vs. Low Cost

If you asked your butcher for a porterhouse steak and he handed you a cut of the flank and said, "This doesn't cost as much and is just as good," you wouldn't believe him, would you?

Yet the butcher's statement is just as truthful as the assertion that inferior baking powders made of alum or phosphate of lime are as good as Royal, which is made from cream of tartar.

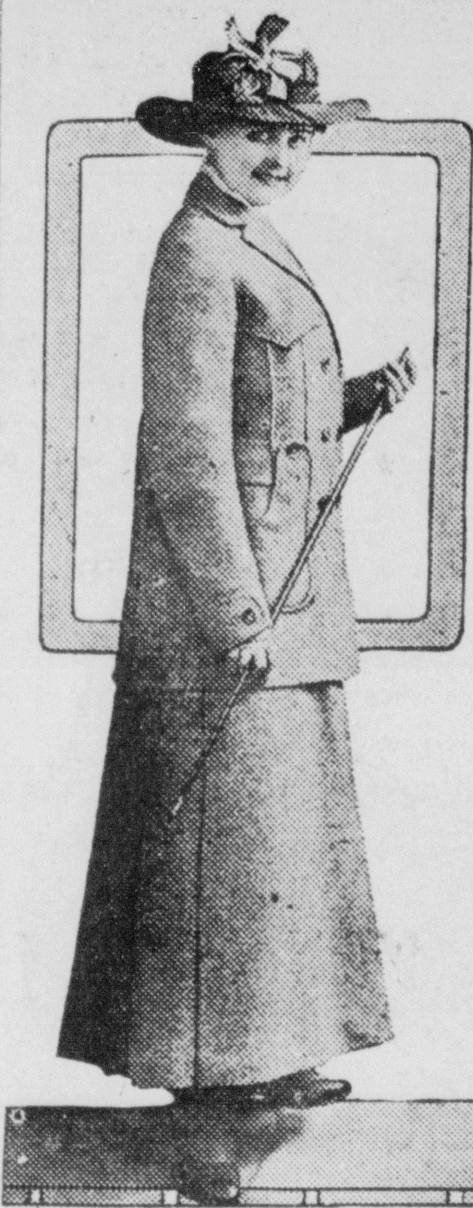

Alum is a mineral acid salt, declared by many medical authorities unsafe to use in food.

Royal Baking Powder is as pure and wholesome as the vineyard grapes from which its cream of tartar is derived.

The only reason for using such substitutes as alum and lime phosphate is because their cost is less to the manufacturer.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

LOYAL DEVOIR ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given by the Loyal Devoir Society of the Central Christian church last night was enjoyed by a large crowd. Clyde Poulter, the midwest entertainer, of Kansas City, Mo., gave a program of miscellaneous readings and humorous selections, and was assisted by local musical talent. Miss Lillian Griffiths rendered a beautiful violin solo, accompanied by Miss Lorita Bollinger, and Mrs. T. R. Carter sang two contralto solos that were much appreciated by the audience. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and potted plants.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Monday evening a company of relatives and friends of Lawrence Manuel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Manuel, gathered at his home on South Lynn street and gave him a very pleasant surprise on the occasion of his eleventh birthday. They brought refreshments with them and a bountiful six o'clock dinner was served. In the evening quite a number of his boy friends came in and enjoyed the evening with games of various kinds. Refreshments were served and the evening proved very enjoyable.

SURPRISED BY FRIENDS.

Mrs. Edward Massman was very pleasantly surprised last evening at her home, 116 Bruce street, by about thirty of her neighbors and friends, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The color motif was pink and white which was carried out in the refreshments of cream and cake as well as in the decorations. The company had arranged a delightful musical program consisting of solos and piano numbers. During the evening a number of games were played affording much merriment.

JUNIOR KAFFEE KLATCH.

Mrs. Linden Hodapp will be hostess to the Junior Kaffee Klatch Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Second street.

CORN SHOW PLANS ARE TAKING FORM

formation regarding details of the show can apply to them.

Mr. Cobb reports that interest in the show throughout the county is growing and that indications are that there will be a large number of entries from each township.

Joseph S. Helms, of Richmond, who will judge the entries, is recognized as one of the best corn judges in the country, and one helpful feature of his work will be his explanations of his awards. Prof. Christie's speech, which will be given at the Majestic on Friday evening of the show, is also proving a strong feature of the show, and he will likely be heard by a representative crowd of farmers and business men.

Another feature of the show that is arousing much interest among the school children of the county is the exhibit of work being done by the classes in agriculture and domestic science, for the best display of which a prize of an appropriately inscribed banner is offered. Many of the schools are planning to enter exhibits and a large attendance of the school children is expected on the Saturday of Corn Show week.
